

Form for self-declaration of negative test results

Parents are required to test themselves at least 3 times a week on different working days. This should be the person who usually has the most extensive contact with the child in the family. For this purpose, the country provides parents with nasal antigen self-tests free of charge (3 Tests per week). As before, parents will receive the tests from their day-care centre or childcare worker. Parents can also get tested at their workplace (employer test) or at a test centre (citizen test).
First name and surname of the parent who tested himself
First name and surname of the child	Date of birth of the child
First name and surname of the child	Date of birth of the child

I declare with my signature that I have carried out recognised self-tests for the coronavirus SARS-CoV-2. The test results were negative and the tests were not older than 24 hours. I did the tests on the following days:

Date of the first test: _____

Date of the second test: _____

Date of the third test: _____
